"Let's face it," is a familiar phrase to almost everyone. At one time or another, everyone has to "face it," whether it is the ringing alarm clock, a hard test he hasn't studied for, or the loss of an important game. But faces are far more than just confronting a problem.

The life of a high school student has many facets, each revealing a different type of life. With each new experience, he meets a different face of himself and his world. The faces of his first algebra problem, a new teacher, his school with its four buildings and 2100 students, the many activities, and the many friends he meets there all weave together to form the life of a typical student at Ben Davis High School.

The faces of football players show anxious anticipation as they watch an important play.

In preparation for the homecoming festivities, three Seniors build the face of the Senior float.

Only a few figures are silhouetted in the B.D. halls at the end of a long day.

Evidence of patience and understanding is displayed on the face of Mr. Charles Carpenter, guidance counselor.

face joys and sorrows of life

The students of Ben Davis High School, along with the rest of the world, faced tragedy on November 22, 1963. When the announcement first crackled over the public address system that President John Fitzgerald Kennedy had been assassinated, a stunned disbelief settled over the school. The tragedy struck especially hard at Ben Davis; the Marching Giants had played at President Kennedy's inauguration and had welcomed him during his visit to Indianapolis.

The flag in front of the Senior building flew at half mast for thirty days serving as a constant reminder of what many could not quite accept. But no one will need a reminder to recall the shock of November 22.

The face of Academics

The face of academics is more than just class-work or homework; it is the face of a challenge. The Ben Davis student has the opportunity to choose from a wide range of courses covering practically every possible taste and ambition. The student, with an opportunity to learn and grow offered by the teacher, is challenged to use this opportunity. The face of academics is constantly changing to meet the needs of different times and interests, but the basic purpose remains the same.

Mr. Bob Hughes graphically demonstrates the rules of English with the aid of an opaque projector.

Mike Lynn enjoys a bit of humor from a reading of a student's theme in a Junior English class.

in English classes

Every student who expects to graduate from Ben Davis High School will have a major in English. Each pupil must take English I through VI. Many students take more than three years of English. Developmental Reading is offered to students who wish to improve their reading skills.

For college-bound seniors, courses in literature and college composition are offered. Journalism, which may lead to work on one of the publications staff, is also offered. A special course in Bible literature is provided for juniors and seniors.

Department head, Mrs. Beneda Campbell, and the 17 other teachers in the English Department, spend each day of the school year trying to impress upon their students the rules of correct grammar, and the importance of an interest in good literature.

Senior Dave Murdock delivers a speech to actuate in Dr. Hansell's Speech I class.

Mrs. Ina Hyde, Foreign Language department head, explains verb conjugation.

increased foreign language instruction

Several new teachers and a new department head have been added to the foreign language department this year. Two additional courses were offered on the curriculum.

Because of the great demand for more Spanish, Latin, and French instruction, four teachers were added to the staff of the language department. Mrs. Ina Hyde replaced Mrs. Helen Wampler, who retired last spring, as department head.

Third years of French and Spanish were offered to meet growing demands for these modern languages. Because of this, pupils may now earn majors in these classes. Latin continued with a four-year course.

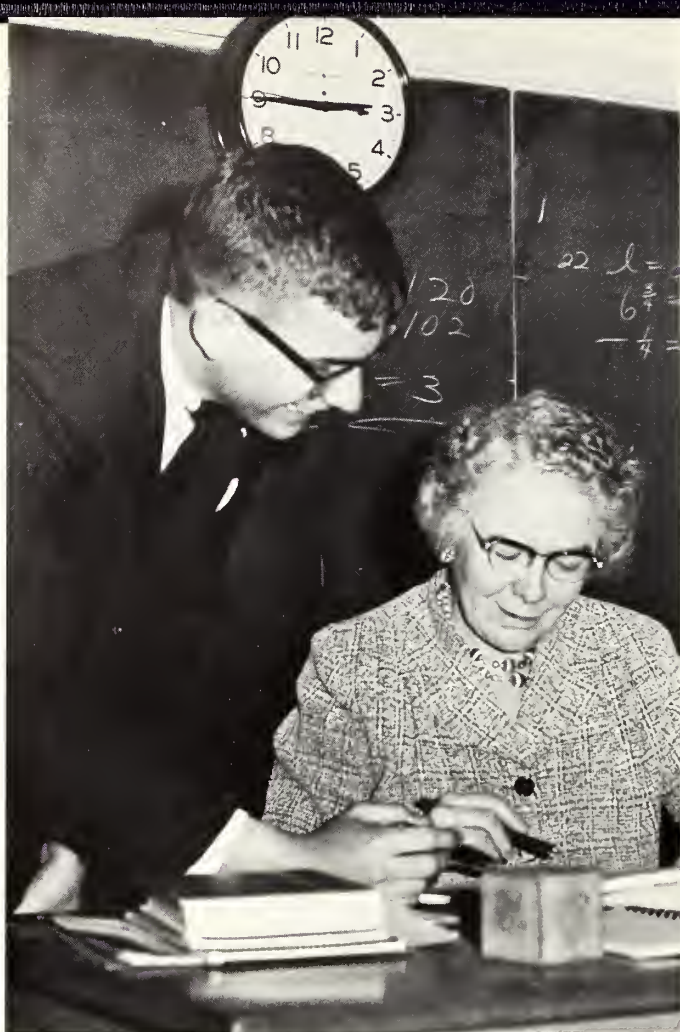

Pupils who took French or Spanish used tape recordings to learn pronunciation skills, verb conjugations, noun forms, and sentence structure. To test the clarity of their accent, the pupils made recordings at different times and compared them to master tapes.

Latin students learned to translate from the works of Caesar, Cicero, Pliny, and Aulus Gellius. They also studied some Roman history, social customs, forms of government, and the Roman armies.

Members of the Spanish classes rewrote the constitution of the Spanish Club. Pupils in the Latin classes, supervised by Mrs. Helen Mac Nabb, Latin teacher, printed their own newspaper, "Nunc et Tunc," which they exchanged with other schools across the country.

Mathematics prepares

A trigonometry student uses a slide rule in solving a problem.

pupils for many different careers

From simple division to derivatives, the mathematics department offers a wide variety of courses to suit the individual needs of each pupil. Preparing the student who enrolls in math courses for the special needs of whatever career he plans to enter after graduation, is the main goal of this department.

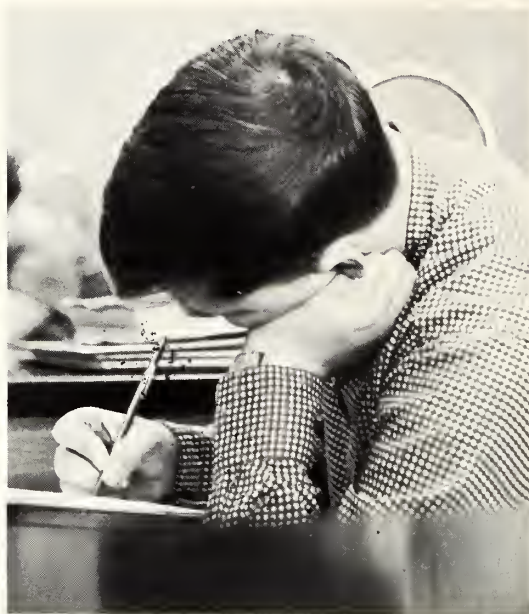

When a freshman enters Ben Davis, he must enroll in one of the beginning mathematics courses—Algebra I and II, General Math I and II, or Shop Math I and II. To further his training in the science of numbers, a pupil may enroll in more advanced courses after the first required year. The mathematics department, under the direction of Miss Nina Martin, offers subjects ranging up to analytic geometry and college algebra.

Mathematics, like all sciences, changes with progress; and the mathematics department is keeping up with these changes. Recently, more emphasis on logic and new areas of math have been placed in the curriculum. By constantly adopting new methods, the teachers in the mathematics department feel they can offer the pupils an even broader and more useful background in math.

modern world

To keep up with the fast moving pace of our modern world, more and more Ben Davis pupils are becoming interested in science. The Ben Davis High School science department is growing by leaps and bounds under the able direction of Mr. Daryl Miller, department chairman.

Quite a variety of courses are offered to pupils interested in science. For pupils interested in plants and animals, Biology I and II are offered. Some of the highlights of this course are the interesting dissections. Among the specimens dissected are earthworms, fish, and frogs.

For students who wish to further their study of plants, Botany I and II are offered. For pupils who wish a better science background, Chemistry I and II, and Physics I and II are offered. Chemistry introduces the elements, their structures and habits. In Physics, energy and motion are a few topics of study.

For advanced seniors, College Chemistry is offered. This is a deeper study of Chemistry.

A basic course introducing many branches of science is Physical Science. This is quite popular with freshmen.

The future is bright for the Ben Davis High School science department. Our modern world requires an understanding of science, for every day living.

Advanced Chemistry pupils Cecil Martin, Key Ellis, Kieth Tharp, and Gary Brewer prepare for an experiment with oxygen.

Better acquaintance

With an eye to the future, the social studies department strives to better acquaint the student with his rapidly-changing world.

Miss Olive Carruthers, department head, assists the eight other social studies teachers to fulfill the needs of students.

Students have a choice of studying the make-up of the earth, history of the United States or other countries, our economic systems, or the behavior of man. A minor in social studies is required for graduation from Ben Davis.

A study of the world and its politics, people, and history is one of the most valuable aspects of the student's school life.

Mr. Mimis Antanapoulis discusses the growth of the United States with one of his U.S. History classes.

Darrel Morgan, as a member of a government class, helped to operate the voting machines this year.

Art, Music Departments

During bond class, the concert bond plays many types of music.

A beginning art student learns how to use an air brush during a practice period.

favorites at BDHS

Fulfilling the cultural needs of Ben Davis pupils is the purpose of the art and music departments.

Heading the music department is Mr. Ralph Chandler, assisted by Mr. Fred Niemyer, Mr. Ronald Doak, and Mr. Ray Horton. Mrs. Geraldine Miller directs the choral groups, and Mr. Bob Bunning conducts the orchestra.

Mrs. Elva Strouse is the director of the art department. In addition to teaching pupils painting, drawing, and sculpturing, she instructs them on what to look for in any piece of art work, and how to appreciate good work. Appreciation of art is very important, not only to the pupil who plans to continue art courses after graduation, but also to the average student.

The music department is divided into groups according to the degree of interest and ability of the individual student. The advanced classes in this department are the Purple-Aires, which provides music for the spring musical and other convocations, and the Ben Davis Marching Giants.

Presenting music for fun and learning is the purpose of the music department. Through a widely diversified program, they seek to achieve their aim.

Departments work to develop character,

Running to avoid being hit by the ball during a gym class, a boy gains co-ordination and stamina while enjoying physical activity.

Two semesters of physical education are required at Ben Davis High School for both boys and girls. Qualified junior or senior girls are provided a course in advanced gym.

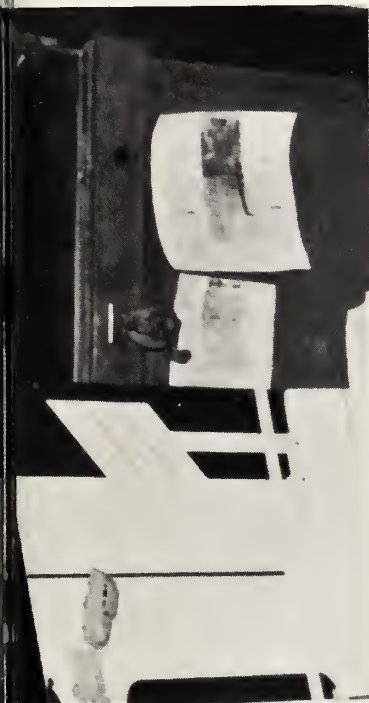

Developing physical aptitude, acquiring a competitive spirit, and developing a sense of good sportsmanship are three main qualities gained from physical education classes at Ben Davis High School.

Planning for the future is very important in our lives today. The expert guidance counselors at Ben Davis assist pupils in selecting their high school courses, picking the college of their choice, and planning for their chosen vocations.

Every freshman at Ben Davis takes a one semester course in personal civics. During this course he plans his high school courses. Freshmen also find this course very helpful in becoming acquainted with Ben Davis High School.

mind, and body

Mr. Robert Seaman, head guidance counselor, studies a college application in completing the second school record portion, one of his many duties.

Pupils look to Four mechanical drawing pupils study a drawing while Mr. James Pell points out some of the important parts.

Repairing any trouble in a car's engine, cutting a fruit dish on a wood lathe, building an electric motor, and making a durable hammer on a metal lathe—any or all of these tasks might be projects for pupils taking a manual arts course at BDHS.

Pupils in industrial arts learn to draw and read plans and design their projects in mechanical drawing classes, several of which are offered. In the different electricity classes, students are taught to build circuits to make motors, and to repair radios and household appliances. In other classes, pupils find out how to use many machines in working on most systems in a car, cutting wood or metal, or welding.

This year for the first time, pupils could take a course in graphic arts. Designed to be a two year credit later, the two semester class taught by Mr. Roger Bush offered training in use of off-set press and other printing machines.

Mr. Jim Taylor headed the Industrial Arts Department this year, replacing Mr. Dwight Cottingham, who became attendance officer for the Wayne Metropolitan School District. New faces came into the department with the addition of teachers Mr. Ted Shell, Mr. Jim Tell, and Mr. Bill McClain.

future in learning practical arts

Sharon Bowers demonstrates how to make a blouse, which was a required project in Home Economics.

With an eye to the future, teachers of the home economics department of BDHS attempt to prepare their pupils for life as homemakers.

The "how to's" of sewing, style planning, and choice of fabrics are taught in sewing courses. Operating sewing machines and stitching by hand, pupils make skirts, blouses, and other items of clothing. Also included in these courses are tips on grooming, makeup, hair styles, posture, poise, and choice of clothing.

"Housewifely" skills are taught in the various cooking classes. Budgeting, nutrition, and meal planning are all part of these courses.

The only home economics course that is co-educational is Family Relations. This covers a study of marriage and managing a family.

First aid, nursing, and child care are taught in the home nursing course.

Led by Miss Harriet Wilkinson, the other three teachers of home economics strive to acquaint their pupils with their future professions.

Shirley Hunley and Sondra Creech add the gourmets touch to a stew prepared in a Home Economics course.

Mrs. Casselman, Mrs. Hartle, and Mrs. Watson inspect a newly-acquired volume for the library's shelves.

Solitude and quiet of library contrasts

For casual as well as reference reading, the place to go is the library. There are approximately 7700 books to choose from: fiction, non-fiction, reference, and biographies. Over 1150 students pass through the library doors every week. On Mondays and Fridays about 400 pupils come to the library from study halls. Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays are designated for the 750 students per week who come from classes. English classes are brought to the library for book reports and term papers; personal civics classes make use of the career files for papers on future vocations. All pupils attending with classes are given library instructions.

This year a professional library for the faculty was established. All the teachers were encouraged to make use of the educational publications available. Books and magazines in all areas of instruction were provided for the teachers' use.

Mrs. Phyllis Casselman, head librarian, is assisted by Mrs. Harriet Watson, 22 student librarians, and Mr. Robert Carnes, the library clerk.

When preparing papers for classes, such as this student is doing, the library is an invaluable source of material.

A row of busy typists strive for rapidity and accuracy in a timed writing.

with rapid pace of commerce department

A switchboard operator practices the rules of good business procedure while providing a useful service for the school.

Preparing students for future careers in business is the goal of the Commerce Department.

The department head, Mrs. Jessie Kirk, and 15 other commerce teachers teach more than 1870 pupils enrolled in business classes at Ben Davis High School.

There are more than 14 business courses to choose from while attending Ben Davis. In various courses, pupils may learn typing, shorthand, the working of business machines, bookkeeping, and business law.

Business law is a new one-semester course which may be taken by seniors. This course consists of making out contracts, insurance policies, and other business documents.

The department awards pins for speed in typing and shorthand. Pins in shorthand are awarded for the rate at which a girl takes dictation.

After taking at least one year of business, a pupil is eligible to work in the Book Den or as a department secretary.

The face of Activities

After the school day is over, many Ben Davis students remain to participate in the myriad of activities open to students. The face of activities is a face made up of several smaller faces. Some of these faces are the honoraries, the co-curricular clubs, the booster clubs, the special interest groups, and the curricular activities. In another area of activity are the sports—both interscholastic and intramural.

The activities in and around the school make up an interesting, enjoyable, and rewarding facet of student life.

the student body in many functions.

One of the most active organizations on the B. D. campus, the council, sponsors many activities during the year. Among these are the annual Homecoming festivities, student elections, a teacher appreciation day, and a spring dance.

The student council officers are—President, Susan Peterson; Vice President, Connie Clark; Secretary, Karen Cantwell; and Treasurer, Rick Syphers. They worked with the various council committees and plans began to form for changes in the year's activities. In 1963, the presidents of all school clubs were made non-voting members of the council to provide a broader base of student opinions in council decisions. The council also added a primary to the format of the spring election. Teacher Appreciation Day featured a breakfast before school for all teachers. Students from the council taught the first three classes of many of the teachers. Another change was the addition of the informal dance in the spring with a ski-lodge theme.

Looking to the future, the council initiated action to bring a foreign exchange student to Ben Davis in the fall.

Honor Society goal of industrious pupils

Those long, tedious nights of study seemed at last to find their reward as the Honor Society initiates went through the solemn, inspiring induction ceremony.

For membership a student must maintain a high scholastic average, together with the qualities of good character, leadership, and service.

This year's initiates joined in a round of activities, as a reward for their diligent, hard work. Soon after initiation, a banquet was given for them and their parents. A fall wiener roast and a Christmas party were held during the next school year.

The traditional Honor Hop came in February, where ten sophomores with straight A averages were introduced as probationary members. To attend the Honor Hop a student must make either the high or low honor roll. In addition to these activities the members financed a $100 scholarship fund by sponsoring sock hops and serving at Lion's Club dinners.

Miss Olive Carruthers, Mr. Robert Seeman, and Mrs. Helen Pince were sponsors.

Two active Honor Society members, Janet Allen and Ken Cummins, discuss some of the year's activities with senior class sponsor Mr. Daryl Miller.

Pupils Show interest in drama and speech

The Mask & Gavel Club exists for those pupils interested in developing their skills in the dramatic and forensic arts. Among the club's varied activities are: producing the fall and spring plays; presenting one act exhibition plays; and competing in debate and solo speech contests.

Those pupils attempting to gain membership are required to present a humorous or serious reading and a short pantomime. New members are then selected on the basis of this presentation.

Directed by Dr. Donald Hansell and Mr. Bob Hughes, members of National Thespian Troupe developed dramatic skills which they demonstrated before fellow club members and civic organizations. Five members placed first at Ball State College, with their platform theater production of "John Brown's Body." Other productions were "Ladies of the Mop" and "Man of Ideas."

For the first time, letters were awarded to those pupils who excelled in dramatic abilities. Recipients of this honor were Rick Syphers and Sheila Fark. Sixty Thespian points are required before a member is considered for an award.

A banquet held in the spring closed another year for Mask and Gavel members.

Mask and Gavel officers, Diane Leggitt, Susan Gunkel, Susan Peterson, Steve Hughes, and Rick Syphers pause back stage.

Math, journalism honoraries seek high goals

To be accepted as a member of an honorary organization is an honor conferred on a student, signifying that the student has an outstanding aptitude in his field.

Mu Alpha Theta, mathematics honorary, has as its members students who have completed six semesters of math with at least a B average. The organization sponsors an annual pitch-in dinner where awards are presented.

Outstanding journalists are inducted into Quill and Scroll during one of two annual candle-light ceremonies, one in the fall and one at the Publications Banquet in the spring. To be eligible for Quill and Scroll, students must serve two semesters on a staff and must maintain a B average. Only 10% of staff members may be admitted to the honorary. Quill and Scroll annually awards Gold and Silver Keys to the outstanding senior and junior girls and boys.

Publication staffs

"Should this be in two-point or three-point? What is the count? How many picas?" These are a few questions that can be heard in room 604, sixth period every day, when the staff works on the Spotlight, student publication.

The 21 members of the staff work as page editors, assistant editors, typists, photographers, or reporters. Journalism I students act as cub reporters on the "beat" system.

Editors of the Spotlight are changed between semesters. The first-semester editor was Phil Springer; the second-semester editor was Irene Clare.

Activities of the Spotlight staff include sponsoring the Harvest Swing and delivering Valentine corsages.

While the aim of the Spotlight staff is to better inform the student of his school surroundings, the BDHS News Bureau attempts to better inform the public of school activities.

Correspondents from the News Bureau write for several city and suburban papers.

Mr. James Ray is the advisor to both Spotlight and News Bureau.

Mary Garman, Dala Best, Charlene Purpura, Paula Sparks, and Pam Altmeyer, members of the News Bureau staff, under the direction of the Mr. James Ray, busily prepare stories for the various city newspapers.

The editorial staff of the Spotlight, Carol Valente, Anita Farey, Phil Springer, Jim Doan, Irene Clare, Dennis Dadd, Sharon Slane, and Sue Hunt, plan the various pages of the school newspaper with the help of the advisor, Mr. James Ray.

busy reporting pupils' lives on BD campus

Underclassmen pictures create a state of confusion for the Keyhole staff.

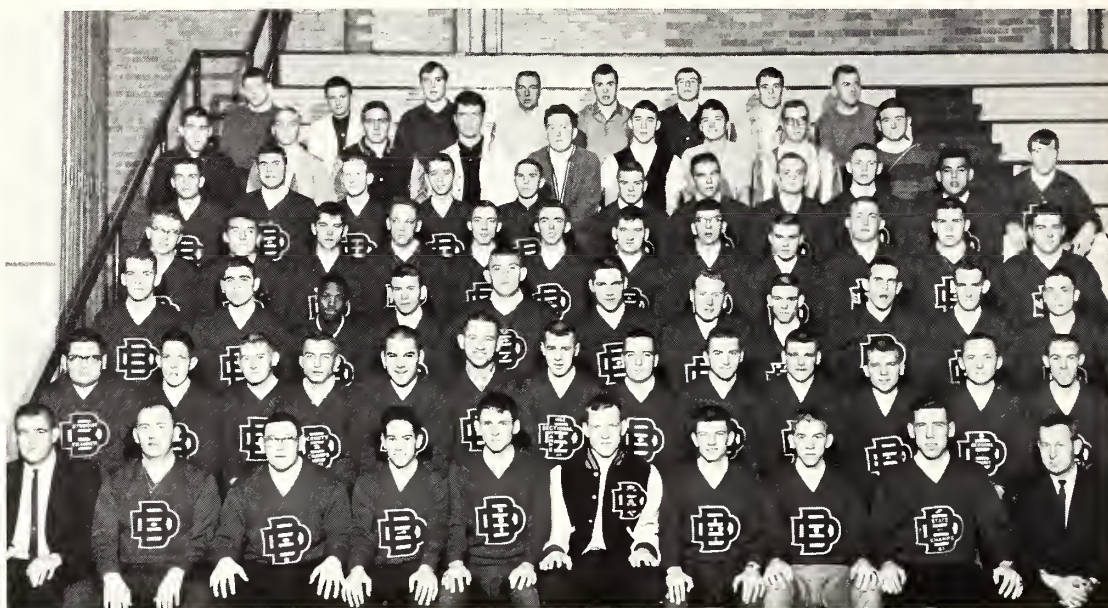

Drawing page layouts, taking the various pictures needed, writing copy, alphabetizing names and pictures, and typing copy onto the page plans are some of the activities that go together to make a yearbook. The 1964 Keyhole Staff, in completing all the elements of the yearbook, spent many hectic moments during sixth period and after school, as the deadlines drew near almost everyone on the staff worked in almost every phase of the production of the yearbook.

In the first few weeks of school, the "Keyhole Kids" found many changes. The office had been moved down to room 601 in the basement of the Annex Building, last year's three typewriters had been replaced by two "new" models, and, most important of all, a new advisor, Mr. Robert Houston joined the staff. As the book progressed from a few blank copy sheets to the completed Keyhole, Mr. Houston worked along side of the staff.

When the last page finally was sent on its way to the printer, the staff members relaxed and began waiting eagerly for the finished copies to arrive.

Lettermen's club expands its activities

A boy who earns a letter sweater by participating in a varsity sport immediately becomes a member of the Ben Davis Letterman's Club. Sponsored by Mr. Benny Townsend and Mr. Marion Fine, this club promotes a wholesome athletic program and provides better relations between coaches, students, and athletes.

At present the club has an enrollment of 93 members and grows rapidly every season. This group meets once a month during the activity period and talks over future plans and ideas. It also sponsors many helpful projects during the year. Club members hand out programs at home football and basketball games as a service to spectators.

Various awards are presented to Ben Davis athletes. Freshmen receive numerals, reserve athletes get pins, and varsity athletes receive a letter sweater. If a boy receives three major awards in one sport, he will get a trophy. For four sports, he obtains a wall plaque. If he receives six major awards, he will be presented a jacket. With nine awards, he gets a blanket.

Officers of the Letterman's Club talk over plans for the annual Letterman's dance.

Booster Club and Sideliners back teams

Booster Club officers Billie Sue Kitchens, Barbara Hatfield, Esther Cass, Dala Best, and Duffy Taylor announce plans for activities at the Sectionals.

Officers of the Sideliners Club, Jahn Maines, Larry Warren, Tom Paino, Jerry Hughes, and Bil Carter discuss future activities.

Spirit, noise, and ear-splitting yells are all part of the Booster Club's activities. The all-girl group sponsored by Miss Marilyn Benson adds much to our ball games. Aided by the Pep Band, the Booster Club rouses spirit at the games with yells, songs, and hand motions.

The boys' counterpart of the Booster Club is the Sideliners Club. This club, sponsored by Mr. Robert Dunbar and Mr. Trent Gibson, also adds spirit to the ballgames and sponsors other activities during the year.

These two clubs play an important part at Ben Davis. They aid in promoting school spirit, loyalty, and sportsmanship. Special cheer blocks at the ball games give all a rousing lift.

Cannie Clark, senior, enthusiastically leaps into the air as she leads a cheer.

Varsity, Reserve

Varsity cheerleaders Marie White, Cathy Happer, Cannie Clark, Annette Dunham, Susan Petersan, and JaAnne Straber reflect good sportsmanship and school spirit.

Reserve Cheerleaders: Julia Jackson, Cheryl Long, Sue Adams, Nancy Waad, Dawn Dillow.

Frosh yell leaders boost school spirit

Ben Davis was the site of the National Yell Leaders Association clinic this year. The varsity cheerleaders were hostesses at the clinic and were aided by the frosh and reserve cheerleaders, who made name tags, helped with lunch reservations, and ran errands. Over 80 schools from throughout the state were represented by more than 500 girls and their sponsors. At the clinic the girls learned ways to promote school spirit. They were taught the psychology of crowds and picked up many new ideas and cheers.

All the varsity yell leaders attended the Smith-Walbridg Camp at Syracuse, Indiana, last June. There, they learned new techniques and competed for ratings.

Frosh and reserve yell leaders lead cheers at home games, and assist the varsity girls at pep sessions. Later, they led cheers at the frosh and reserve basketball tournaments.

Not only do the cheerleaders work at basketball games and pep sessions, but also at football games and track meets. Individually, the cheerleaders serve the school in many ways, such as making posters, and helping to promote school spirit and better sportsmanship.

Sports-minded students join active clubs

"Take the kids off the streets and put them in the alleys." This statement may shock some people, but those who know Mr. Mimis Antonopoulos know this is his motto for the Ben Davis Bowling Club. This club, started in 1957, has grown into the largest bowling club in the nation.

Laughter is always heard every Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon at the Lynhurst Bowling Alley when over 200 students from BDHS undertake the battle of bowler against bowling pins.

Over 120 trophies were given this year at the annual banquet honoring winning teams, high scorers, and for participants in the Christmas Bowling Tournament. Sixty bowlers from Ben Davis vied for top honors with other schools.

Over 150 girls interested in sports belong to the Girls' Athletic Association, under the direction of Miss Martha Fulford. Some of the sports participated in were soccer, volleyball, roller skating, swimming, hiking, archery, basketball, and baseball. Social activities of the group include initiation, a slumber party, a Christmas Party, plus sponsoring the Pizza Twist and serving at Lions Club dinners. For participation in sports and outside activities, points are given entitling each girl to awards at the end of the year.

GAA leaders Esther Cass, Sharan Percy, Cannie Clark, Jan Medcalf, and Barb Hatfield plan girls' athletic events for the year.

Intramurals balance athletic program

Players anxiously watch as another team member shoots for a basket.

Abounding energy and zeal, typical of the growing years, are characteristic of pupils who participate in BD's wide range of athletic activities. In the fall, winter, and spring of 1963-64, both boys and girls in all classes sought intramural competition.

Basketball and volleyball, are included in the intramural program at BD which helps enrich physical and mental health as well as normal growth. Intramural sports also develop group and team spirit.

Miss Marilyn Benson sponsors the girls' volleyball team. During the fall semester she took two girls' volleyball teams to Warren Central where the "A" team won the best of three games, while the "B" team lost its series.

Intramural basketball, sponsored by Mr. William Minnick, is concerned with the teams playing in the school. With an increase of four teams, this year the fourteen teams played each other, then ended the year with a tourney to determine the first-place team.

Miss Benson and Mr. Minnick contributed to promote the best interest of sports in Ben Davis High School.

Three intramural basketball players battle for a rebound in an exciting moment of the game.

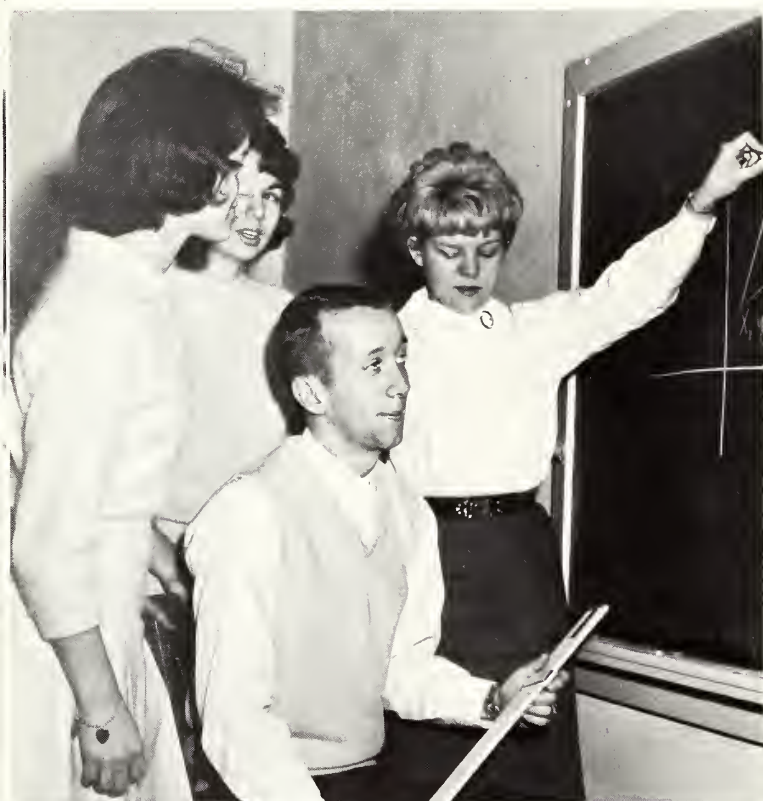

Activities of the Trialge Club include decorating the Christmas tree in the Industrial Arts Building.

Academic clubs provide opportunities

Studying a geometrical diagram during a monthly meeting are Trialge officers, Carolyn Lehr, Diane Traut, Ken Rainey, and Virginia Miller.

Pupils interested in obtaining more knowledge and having fun at the same time often join the science, math, or history clubs.

Sponsored by Miss Sandra Brown and Miss Carolyn Lincks, the Ben Davis Historical Society is the newest extra-curricular organization. Students who were interested wrote the club's constitution, which was accepted by the Indiana Junior Historical Society. During the year, the group took trips to several places of historical interest.

Phi Chi Sigma, or Science Club, is one of the most active clubs on the Ben Davis campus. Mr. Daryl Miller and Mr. Jack Jester, club sponsors, arrange for speeches and films pertaining to science to be presented. Each year the organization builds a float for the homecoming parade. Pupils must be enrolled in chemistry or physics to be eligible for membership in the club.

Trialge is the rather significant name of the mathematics society. Students enrolled in Algebra I or higher courses in math can become a member. Each year Trialge decorates the Christmas tree for the cafeteria. Miss Nina Martin, head of the mathematics department, serves as sponsor.

This year Phi Chi Sigma and Trialge went on a tour of Clowes Memorial Hall.

Customs, manners of native countries

The Spanish Club's float entitled "Hats Off to Ben Davis" won first place in competition at the 1964 Homecoming.

Proving that learning a foreign language is not all work is easy for the three BDHS language groups.

One event which the clubs share is Language Day, on which participants dress in the costumes worn in their "adopted" country. Pupils from the different organizations compete in the "Olympic" games at this time.

Sponsored by Mrs. Ina Hyde, the French Club participated in many activities. Taking a trip to a French restaurant was a highlight of the year. The club increased its membership to more than 50. Pupils who had taken French, but were no longer enrolled in the course, were allowed to join the organization.

Senatus Populusque Romanus, or SPQR, is the oldest BD social group. Because SPQR belongs to the Junior Classical League on state and national levels, visiting conventions is an activity of Latin students. Climaxing a full year of activities, were the slave sale and the Roman banquet. Mrs. Helen MacNabb and Mr. Arvin Brokaw were club sponsors.

La Tertulia (meaning a social gathering) is the title of the Spanish group. Under the supervision of Mr. James Garcia, club sponsor, members rewrote the organization's constitution. This was done to encourage more pupils to join.

Latin Club officers Bruce Gilley, Penny Clarke, Mrs. Helen MacNabb, John Magee, Rager Gunkel, Cannie Wand, and Dione Nunnery are appropriately dressed for their annual banquet.

Pupils with dramatic ability strive for NFL

Approximately sixteen Saturdays during the school year, energetic pupils traveled to high schools from Evansville to Fort Wayne to compete in various speech contests. Those individuals earning twenty-five contest points became eligible for membership in the National Forensic League, an honorary speech organization.

Pupils had the choice of competing in eleven different contest events. These included dramatic interpretation, humorous reading, oratorical declamation, and original oratory. Other divisions were poetry reading, boys' and girls' extemporaneous speaking, debate, radio, discussion, and Student Congress. Dr. Donald Hansel and Mr. Bob Hughes, speech teachers, assisted and advised participating pupils.

Additional awards were available to those who earned extra contest points. Seventy-five points were necessary to obtain a Degree of Honor, 150 points a Degree of Excellence, and 250 points a Degree of Distinction. A Forensic letter was obtained when a member had earned 150 points. Four pupils had the distinction of receiving a letter this year.

The year proved to be the club's most successful since its founding in 1957. Club membership exceeded previous years and the organization had earned 68 degrees at the close of the year.

Outstanding solo speakers Keith Tharp, Sue Gunkel, Tom Herbst, Diane Leggitt, and Mike Brown pause during an informal practice for a coming speech event.

Sunshiners and Red Cross help others

Forgetting themselves and helping others is the aim of the Sunshine Society and the Red Cross. The Sunshine Society has a formal initiation at the beginning of the school year for new members. They help the needy by presenting them with a basket of food on Thanksgiving and Christmas. During the Christmas season, they go carolling at a nursing home. This society contributes annually to the Riley Hospital. In the spring, the society sponsors a formal dance. In order to attend, one must obtain a certain number of points. A queen is selected from the girls who have the highest number of points. Each year they have a project to raise money. Every summer the society sends two girls to Sunshine camp.

Near the end of the school year, they hold a tea and style show for their mothers.

The Red Cross is in many ways like the Sunshine Society. The Red Cross helps the community. They do such things as making party boxes for Central Hospital, sending boxes overseas, and making bed jackets for babies.

The Red Cross Chapter in Indianapolis has a banquet and a meeting each month. Each school selects two representatives to attend these meetings.

Y.F.C., Chess Club serve special needs

This year's Y.F.C. officers are Ken Cummins, Etheus McGowan, Linda Mason, and Larry Tackett.

The Ben Davis Youth for Christ Club is one of the twenty-six clubs in the Indianapolis area. At their meetings, they see films, have talks about the Bible and the many problems of American teenagers, put on skits, or listen to one of the Indianapolis area directors speak. Every first and third Saturdays of the month, rallies are held in Indianapolis.

The purpose of the Youth for Christ Club is to reach the unchurched teenagers in the community.

The Chess Club provides Ben Davis students with the opportunity to enter into friendly competition over the chessboard.

The members of the Chess Club compete among themselves and also in city-wide tournaments.

Denny Olsen, David Farlow, and Bill Muncie, Chess Club officers, find mental challenges with the exchange of match maneuvers.

Jeanette Hordin, Potrico Rigdon, and Momie Arnold, National Vegetable Judging Contest winners, prepare to place their award in the trophy case.

Vegetable judges win national contest

This year was a very good year for the Ben Davis High School 4-H Vegetable Judging Team. Winning first place in the Indiana State Fair Contest, entitled the team to go to the National Contest in Pittsburgh with their coach, Mr. Dwight Cottingham. The climax of the five day trip was the annual Awards Banquet. At the banquet, it was announced that the team from Ben Davis had won the National 4-H Judging Contest.

The Wayne Township 4-H Club, sponsored by Mr. Cottingham obtains more members every year. Varied projects and demonstrations came to a climax at the annual Fair. The members put in many hours of hard work and were rewarded with many honors. Another vital part of the 4-H club is the Junior Leader organization. This group, made up of the older members of the club, assists the adult leaders in their work.

4-H Jr. Leader officers, Lindo Haskell, Donna Graham, Betty Frizzell, and John Phillips, stop to admire the 4-H display.

Students aid school

Serving Ben Davis in a variety of ways are the library, clinic, office, projection, cafeteria, and Book Den assistants.

Office girls run errands, collect attendance slips, answer telephone calls, and assist the office secretaries. Those who have completed their commerce courses are given experience in office procedures.

Student librarians repair, check out, and charge books. They also file materials and deliver library slips. Seniors who have served at least three years are honored with a pin at the honors convocation.

Students who assist Mrs. Ursula Sommers, School Nurse, in the clinic bandage cuts, apply antiseptic, and type reports of students who come in for aid.

The duties of the projectionists are to take orders for films, show them, and collect films and projectors.

Cafeteria assistants receive their lunches free in exchange for scraping dishes, serving food, wiping tables, sweeping floors, and stacking chairs and tables.

Book Den girls sell the various textbooks, workbooks, and other materials used in classes. They also take fee slips for activities, rings, and other class fees.

Book Den Assistant, Terry Minet, counts receipts at the end of a busy day.

High steppers lead Ben Davis Band

Clad in new uniforms, the majorettes and auxiliary girls led the band in many parades and ball games all through the school year. Mr. Ronald Doak, the girls' instructor, taught them routines, good marching, and instilled in them the quality of sportsmanship that every band member needs.

These girls stepped high and marched proudly in their new purple and white uniforms at such places as the Riverview Amusement Park and a football game at Victory Field. The new uniforms were bought with money donated by band-boosting parents and organizations.

Every fall, tryouts for positions in the flag corps are held. Many eager girls march before the band directors, and a few members of the flag corps, with the hope that they will be picked as the new auxiliary girls. Those girls who wish to try out for majorette may do so in the spring of the school year.

Majorettes: Peggy York, Lindo Carter, Annette Dunham, Billie Sue Kitchens, Nancy Switzer, Beth Miley, Duffy Taylor.

Phyllis Ellis and Marian Farnsley prepare to lead the Marching Giants as Head Majorette and Drum Major.

Personalities profiled in '64' bandsmen

Excitement registers on the faces of these happy band members as they return to Indianapolis and hear praise from the Governor of Indiana.

Warm weather, hard concrete, and sore feet are just a few problems faced by band members during summer practice. These long summer hours, though, will bring fulfillment and happiness later in the year.

Nation-wide competition

This year the "Marching Band of Hoosierland" headed south to Florida for the second time in 3 years. The Ben Davis Marching Giants marched in the St. Petersburg Festival of States parade, representing the State of Indiana. 198 persons, including 160 band members and 38 band parents boarded five chartered Greyhound buses March 30. Another 59 parents and friends drove or flew to St. Petersburg and met the band. The whole group stayed at the Gulfwinds Hotel.

The trip to Florida was made during spring vacation, from March 30 to April 5. The band competed for the Florida Governor's Cup which goes to the best out-of-state band.

The Ben Davis Band was selected to represent Indiana "because of the band's musical ability and willingness to promote the many virtues of the state," said Herbert C. Meloney, executive director of the St. Petersburg event.

This was Mr. Ralph Chandler's last year as band director at Ben Davis. In the last 7 years, Mr. Chandler has led the band in state fair competition to two first places, two seconds, one third, and two fourth places. This is an all time record. At the 1963 competition the band placed second.

The Mighty Marching Giants have brought much fame and recognition to Ben Davis.

Bands sparkle in providing entertainment

As school starts at Ben Davis, activities in the "A" Band increase in tempo as the various instrumentalists vie for chairs. Those who earn the highest chairs are rewarded with the opportunity to participate in special organizations: the Pep Band and the Dance Band.

The Pep Band, composed of various instruments of the brass section, performs with the Booster Club for the home basketball games.

The Dance Band, consisting of brass, woodwind, and string instruments, plays for dances sponsored by various schools, clubs, and organizations. The money the Dance Band earns is placed in the Music Fund to be used for the many needs of the Music Department.

During the first period of the day, the Senior Building is filled with the sounds of "singing strings," as the Ben Davis Orchestra practices on the music that they will present.

The students of Ben Davis High School can well be proud of the fine Pep Band, Dance Band, and Orchestra they are so fortunate to have.

in the spring

Forty-five music-minded students make up the Ben Davis Purple-Aires. These talented pupils add color and entertainment to many school functions every year. Besides over thirty-five performances during the season, this choir made a tour through northern Indiana and southern Michigan in the spring.

Also making public appearances through the year are the Madrigal Singers, an active part of the choir. Sixteen Purple-Aires combine their talent and interest in music in the singing of sixteenth-century madrigal songs.

Two other choir ensembles are the Starlights, a group of nine girls, and the Highlights, a boys' octet. This year, the Starlights and Madrigal girls performed in peach brocade dresses.

Purple satin dresses and white dinner jackets are the symbols of the Ben Davis "swing" choir called the Deep Purples. Thirty-eight boys and girls make up this group and are in great demand for public appearances.

Starlights: Janis Schroeder, Caralyn Lehr, Sandy Mossey, Fayrene Smith, June Moore, Kay Steward, Diane Thampsan, Becky Narris, Linda Haskell, Kathy Schell.

Moroccan love episode sets theme for

French Morocco in 1925 is the setting for the renowned musical "Desert Song," which was presented May 9 and 10 by the Mask and Gavel Society and the Music Department.

Two juniors, Davetta Reynolds and Tim Oliver, headed the 75-person cast. They played the roles of Margo Bonvalet and the Red Shadow, respectively. David George, portraying Benny, and Carol Valente, portraying Susan, acted in the leading comedy roles. Senior, Gene Forry played the supporting role of Captain Paul Fountaine. Featured dancers in the 1964 production were Annette Dunham and Fayrene Smith.

"Desert Song" centered around the Red Shadow, a Moroccan-type Robin Hood, who had been agitating the French officials. When he was ordered to capture the Red Shadow, Captain Fountaine was followed to Morocco by Margo. There Margo fell in love with the bandit hero creating conflict.

Music for "Desert Song" was by Sigmund Romberg. The book and lyrics were by Otto Harbach, Oscar Hammerstein II, and Frank Mandel.

Mr. Bob Hughes served as director for the Ben Davis presentation of "Desert Song." Mrs. Geraldine Miller was vocal director; Dr. Donald Hansell, technical director; Mr. Ralph Chandler, music director; and Rick Syphers, student director.

Tim Oliver as the Red Shadow reveals his true identity to his father, General Birbeau, played by Tim Lougher.

production of "The Silver Whistle"

An elderly lady with an appendix problem, a lady frequently under the influence of alcohol, and a free-loader were some of the unusual and enjoyable characters in the annual fall play.

"The Silver Whistle," a three act comedy written by Robert E. Enroe, was selected by the Mask & Gavel members last fall. The highly entertaining comedy was presented November 21-22 during student convocations. The public performance was Friday evening, November 22.

The play, taking place at an old folk's home, revolves around a hobo, Wilford Tasbner, who after finding a birth certificate belonging to a 77-year-old man, has decided to impersonate him. At the old folks home, Tasbner brings joy and a new reason for living into the inhabitants drab lives.

Tim Laughter, BDHS Junior, portrayed William Tasbner in the leading male role. The role of Miss Tripp, the female lead, was played by Kay Zwerner, Senior. Other leading roles went to Seniors Rick Syphers and Steve Hughes.

The play was under the direction of Dr. Donald Hansell, Speech teacher. Mr. Bob Hughes, assisted by stage manager Keith Tharp, skillfully met the responsibilities demanded by creating a unique set.

Tim Laughter, as Oliver Erwenter, shows Kay Zwerner and Steve Hughes, as Miss Tripp and Rev. Watsan, his fighting rooster, Omar.

Outstanding seniors display talents in

To the music of the Senior Varieties band, pupils crowded into the gymnasium for the presentation of the annual senior talent show. Setting tables and chairs before the convocation, many seniors enjoyed the privilege of sitting on floor level in the crowded gym.

To prepare for this beginning required many hours of planning and practice by both the performers and the sponsors. Mr. Jack Jester and Mr. Daryl Miller brought together interested seniors for a meeting several weeks before the planned performance. After they prepared a general outline of the program, practice sessions, led by Mr. Jester, began. From a group of students, many working together on their acts for the first time, Mr. Jester formed a varied program ranging from the slapstick comedy of a "Spike Jones" number through the barbed satire of TW-3, to the grace and precision of a ballet.

After the dance numbers, comedy sketches, and folk songs were over, The Four Seniors, a singing group, closed the program with a Beatle-like number accompanied by the band. As the last few pupils left the gym, the weeks of planning and practice which led to the successful show ended.

1964 Junior-Senior Prom magic moment

Carolyn Lehr and Fred Marin take time out from dancing for refreshments.

From the first moment to the last dance, the 1964 Junior-Senior Prom was a dream-filled evening for many Ben Davis students.

Girls in brightly-colored formals and boys in tuxedos and dinner jackets entered the elevators that carried them to the Indiana Roof Ballroom. After presenting their tickets, they climbed the final steps into the lobby.

At ten o'clock, the Prom court proceeded across the dance floor to the stage. Then, Susan Peterson and Alan Williams were crowned Prom Queen and King. Cathy Hopper and Jim Ristow were crowned Prom Princess and Prince. Mistress and Master of Ceremonies, Sharon Slone and Tim Laughter crowned the royalty.

The Coronation Waltz was led by crown-bearers Peggy Slone and Scott Adams, and finally the royalty and court joined in.

At the stroke of twelve the prom ended, but to most students the activities had only begun. Most went on to a late supper or post-prom party and a picnic on Sunday.

Awards went to outstanding pupils in all phases of Ben Davis campus life. Athletics, academics and service commendations were bestowed upon these students on Senior Honor Day. Recognition is based on a student's diligent work and interest in a subject or service.

The foreign language, math, science, English, social studies, and journalism awards went to seniors with the highest grades, the greatest interest, and active participation in department work.

Because of their interest in fine arts, certain pupils were honored with art, band, and dramatics awards.

Commercial students obtained commendations for their clerical abilities, while the industrial arts and home economics departments, a part of Ben Davis's vocational program, also gave awards.

Scholarship recipients received altogether over $30,000 from various national fraternities, sororities, organizations, and foundations.

American Legion awards were given to the outstanding Senior girl and boy. The Valedictorian, Salutatorian and best scholar of the Class of 64 were also commended.

spirit, Homecoming is a big event

Three girls wait excitedly for the announcement of the queen of the 1963 Homecoming.

During the school year, high spirits and gay enthusiasm mark many colorful events and happenings.

As the festivities started, the band provided entertainment before the candidates were introduced to the people. As the girls came around for the last time, each one sat with eager anticipation. The results of the Queen's Court were: Cathy Anderson, freshman; Pam Mason, sophomore; Cathy Hopper, junior; and Connie Clark, senior. The Queen for the 1963 Homecoming was Annette Dunham.

From the kick-off to the gun that ended the first half, both teams played an action-packed, close game. As the two teams left the field at halftime, the score was: North Central 7, Ben Davis 6.

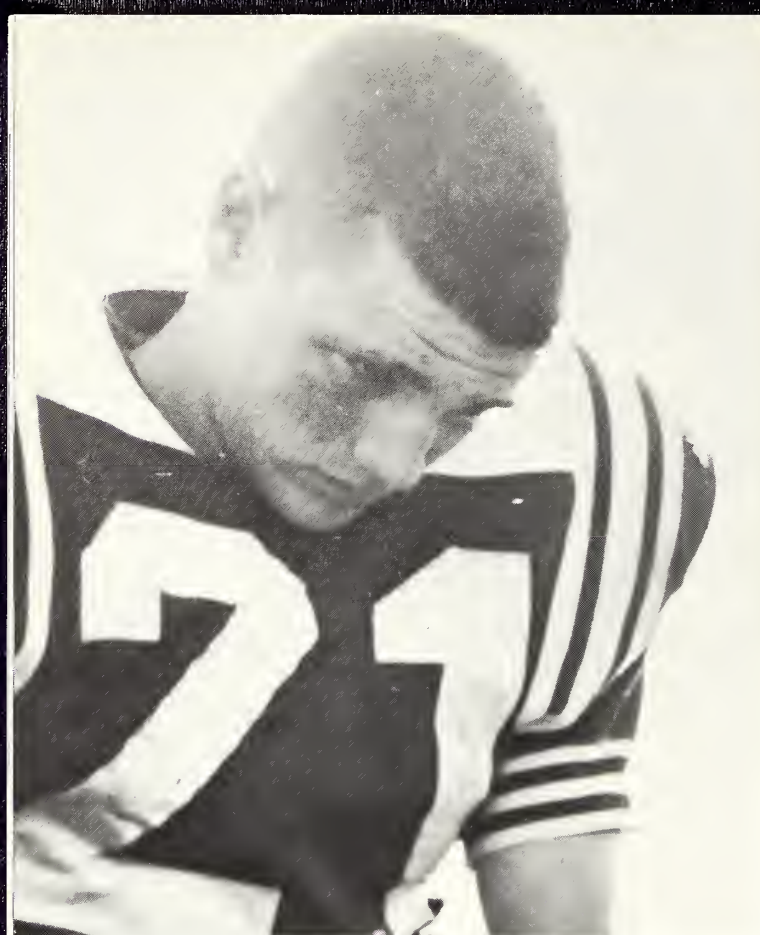

Of all the many colorful floats, there can be only one winner. This year's top laurels went to the Spanish Club, sponsored by Mr. James Garcia. Winning second and third place respectively were the GAA and Science Club floats.

The two teams battled their way through the third and fourth quarters. As the game ended, North Central had won 13-6.

Excitement and color filled the atmosphere and the hearts of the people as the evening drew to an end.

young team

The 1963 football season opened with an all-new coaching staff. Taking over the varsity were new head coach Bill McClain and assistant Art Shaw.

Getting their campaign under way, the Giants lost to highly rated Southport by a decisive margin. They also lost to Warren Central and to Decatur Central for the first time in ten seasons, Shortridge, North Central, Arlington, and Washington before breaking a thirteen game losing streak by defeating Lawrence Central. The varsity gridders then lost to Pike and Bloomington to end the season.

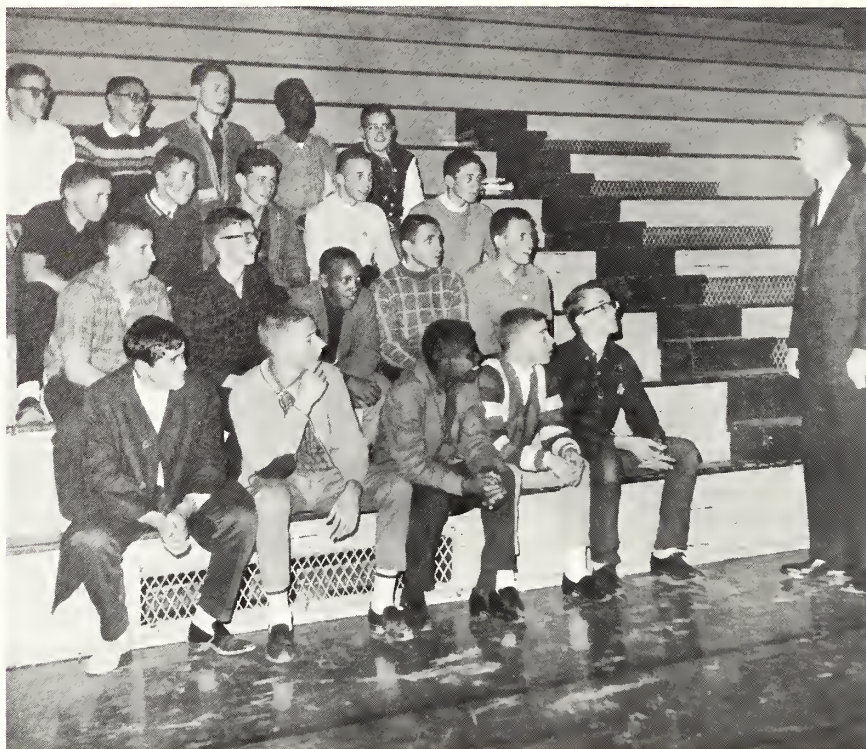

Junior fullback, Mike Adkins, received honorable mention in the All-County Squad.

The increase in spirit and the determination of the "Purple and Whites" mounted game by game, as did student interest in B.D. football. With several top Sophomores and Juniors returning next year, the 1965 "Purple and Whites" should prove that Ben Davis is starting a climb to the top in football.

Reserve and frosh teams show promise

This year's reserve football team, coached by Mr. Jerry Goeglin and Mr. Jerry Stauffer, showed hustle, ability, and promise. As the seasons started, the reserve team lost two out of their first three games, but came on strong the rest of the way, winning four out of their last five. They ended the season with a very fine five and three record.

Mr. Britt's freshman eleven didn't have quite the luck of the reserves. Due to this year's small freshman class, Mr. Britt had only 21 boys out for football. As the season ended, the frosh team had compiled a one and six record, winning their only game against Shortridge 14 to 6.

The fine showing of the reserve team this year points to the possibility of improved fortunes in the future, and the Freshman team gained experience and ability through their full season.

While many pupils lallied on beaches, the football teams practiced under the hot sun.

Harriers overcome strong opponents

The Ben Davis High School Cross Country team came through their 1963 season with a very good record. They started on the road of victory by taking top honors in the Marion County Cross Country Meet, which enabled them to advance to the Regional Meet with a good chance of winning. After winning the Regional, they went on to the State Meet, which was held at South Grove Golf Course. Although conditions were hardly favorable, the team placed ninth. The harriers from Valparaiso took the state championship.

The reserve team, coached by Mr. Marvin Meranda, came out with a very presentable record for 1963. Paced by star sophomore, David Fay, they had a 3-5 record. No freshman team entered competition this year due to the small number in the class.

A considerable amount of time, practice, patience, and work went into making the season of the Cross Country teams this year. Perhaps one factor that spurred the boys on was the 1963 Cross Country Queen, Miss Susan Peterson, who was elected by the boys at the beginning of the season. Three people who worked long hours for the team were head Coach Wendy Hine, Head Coach Marvin Meranda, and Mr. Benny Townsend.

Basketball teams show hustle and desire

Rugged action is often evident at a Ben Davis varsity basketball game.

In 1963-64 Ben Davis Giants exhibited a fine team with a great desire to win. This year's team, which included five seniors, owned impressive victories over Crispus Attucks, Manual, and Crawfordsville. Going into the Marion County Tourney, the Giants had a 6-3 record. The first game they beat Pike Red Devils, and then they lost to county rival Warren Central. The second half of the season had its share of troubles for the Finemen. After an impressive victory over Southport, 101-75, they lost to Howe and Washington. The last two games of the year were very heartbreaking for Ben Davis fans. They led all the way in the Muncie South-Side game and then were defeated in the final few minutes. The last game of the year against Decatur Central was a thriller; tied with 13 seconds in the game. Decatur stole the ball and then scored with only two seconds to go. The final score was 77-75 in favor of Decatur.

Going into the Sectional with a 10-10 record, the Giants lost to Warren Central in the first game of the tourney ending the season for the Giants with a 10-11 record.

Reserve and Frosh fives show potential

With high potential and sufficient height, the Ben Davis Reserve team, coached by Mr. Kenneth Cox, finished the year with an 8-10 record. The team was much better than its record indicates. Included in its losses was an overtime defeat by Southport, and a three point loss at the hands of the Tech Titans. Two of the team's most impressive games were victories over Shortridge and Bloomington. Unfortunately, the Reserve County Tourney was canceled because of bad weather and mid-term examinations.

The Ben Davis freshman team, headed by Mr. Bob Britt, posted a 5-12 record. The team showed real desire in battling most of their opposition, right down to the end of the game. The "Little Giants" won their first game in the county tourney over Beech Grove, and then lost to Perry Central.

This year's freshman and reserve teams showed sportsmanship and a desire to win.

Varsity grapplers finish with 10-4 record

Coach Joe Preda's varsity matmen finished the season with a flourishing attack after experiencing a slow start. Losing their first three in a row to Franklin Central, Lawrence Central, and Southport, our grapplers recovered by winning nine of their next ten matches, losing only to North Central, conquering Columbus, Tech, Crawfordsville, New Albany, Manual, Warren Central, Muncie Central, and winning the Washington Tourney. Although BDHS finished in sixth place at the county tourney, Steve Covert, Jim Lineback, Don Wildman, and Rick Voight went to the finals. Hosting the Sectional Wrestling Tourney, the BDHS wrestling team finished second. Sectional champions for BDHS were Dwight Cooper, Dennis Daniels, and Jerry Chitwood. Co-captaining this year's squad to a 10-4 season were Rick Voight and Dennis Daniels.

Coach George McCool's reserve grapplers had one of their best seasons, winning 12 and losing only two. Placing third in the Marion County Tourney, the squad had three champions: Chuck Lineback, Don Noble, and Dwight Cooper. The frosh grapplers, coached by Mr. Jack Jester, finished the season with an 0-7 record.

Varsity Giants compile even .500 record

As the spring baseball season started, head coach Kenny Cox set out to better his previous year's record of 8 wins and 6 losses. Mr. Cox had a nucleus built around six seniors and a fine group of juniors. During the course of the 1964 season Ronnie Cron, a senior moundsman, pitched his fourth no-hitter in as many years. Included in their victories were impressive wins over county rivals Warren Central, North Central, city foe Manual, and a 5 to 0 victory over a fine Anderson team.

This year's reserve and freshman teams had a combined 4 and 9 record, the reserve team winning 3 and losing 4. The reserve team, coached by Mr. Benny Townsend suffered 4 losses by a total margin of 7 runs.

Mr. Jerry Stauffer, frosh coach, and his freshman team had a difficult season with 1 victory out of 6 games. With a little more experience they should improve.

Mr. Cox is looking forward to a much finer season next year with 9 returning lettermen and a fine group of experienced juniors.

Cindermen, set, smash, track records

Setting records seemed to be habit-forming as eleven records were eclipsed during the year. Heaving the shot put 51'1 1/4" to set a Ben Davis track record, husky Steve Hackleman then gained momentum to set the BDHS school record with a throw of 53' 1/4" in the Regional.

Another record holder is dash-man Clyde Peach, sprinting to victory in the 100- and 220-yard dashes. Then 440-yard dash record holder Bob Evans sped BDHS to a sweep in the events. Distance runner Bob Shipp, proving that endurance is an answer to speed, established his mark in the book with a 4:34.0 mile run.

Through teamwork and practice, several relay marks were broken by the half-mile relay team, the sprint-medley relay team, and the two-mile relay team.

The Reserve and Frosh track teams had a combined total of 4 wins and 7 losses, but several of the decisions were by only a few points. The highlight of the season was a first-place victory in the Columbus Freshmen Relays.

Golf, tennis teams improve records

The 1964 Ben Davis High School golf and tennis teams spent many hours this spring in practice for their season. These teams, coached by Mr. Robert Lee and Mr. Robert Dunbar respectively, worked with spirit and determination.

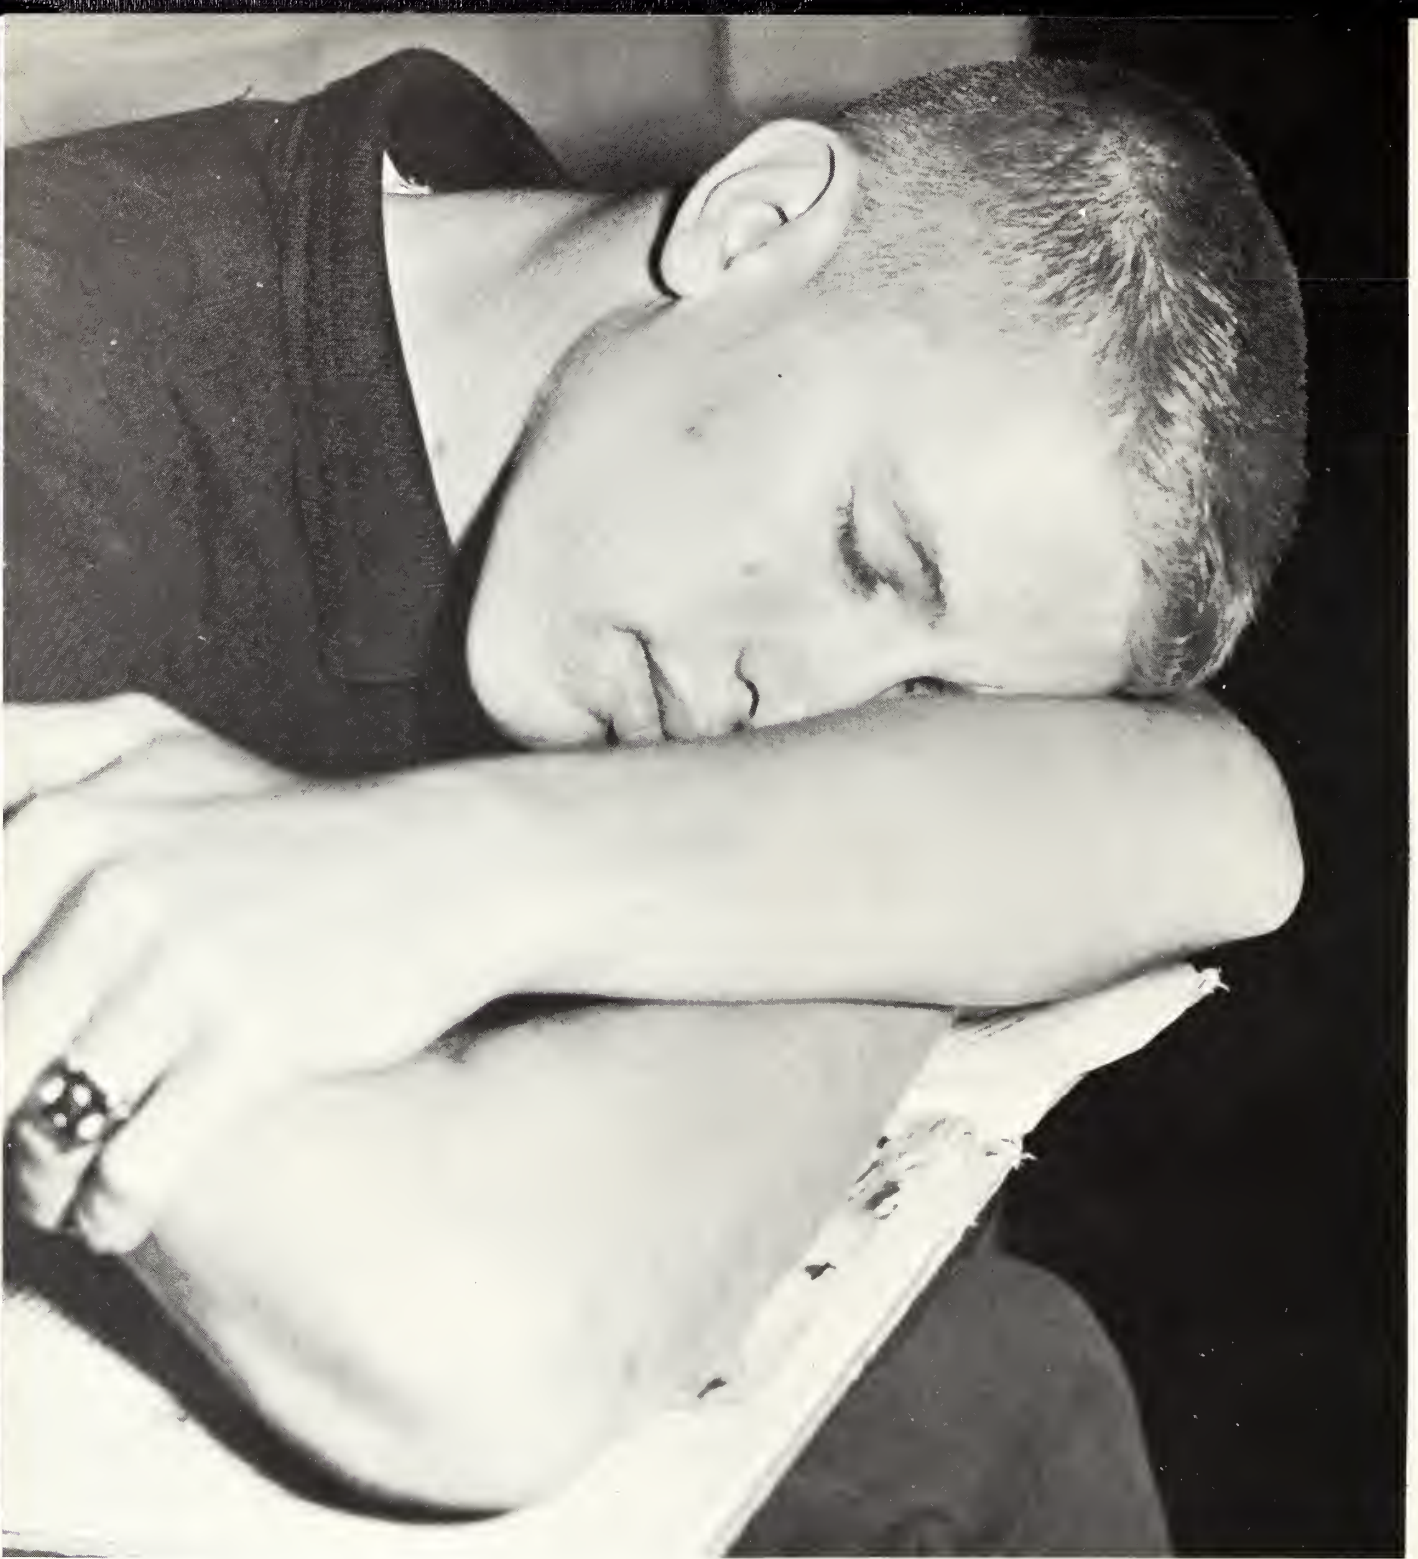

The golf team, which was in need of experience, completed the season with a record of four wins and seven losses. Out of thirty-four teams, Ben Davis placed sixteenth in the Sectionals. The team gained their four wins in matches with Franklin, Lawrence Central, Manual, and Pike. They are looking forward to a better season next year, since the boys will be more experienced.

The 1964 tennis team was aided by the experience of several returning Lettermen. They spent their afternoons on the school's courts in preparation for their matches. The team had five returning Lettermen, who were seniors, Steve Gipson, Randy Hessong, Dave Teeter, Jerry Lagle, and Larry Shireman.

The faces of People

Ben Davis, like any school, exists for people. Without these people there could be no schools. Different people make up the school: 2100 individual students, over 90 teachers, the administration including this year a new principal, and many others.

The faces of these people reflect through their expressions the mood of the moment and of the year; the understanding expression of a helping teacher, the grimly determined look on the face of a student in the midst of a semester final, dejection on the face of a disappointed athlete, the joyful expression of a fan after a victory, the quietly happy faces of a couple at the prom. All these emotions and more are expressed on the faces of the people of Ben Davis.

Mr. Bob Hughes, after a long, tiring day at school takes time out to relax for a moment.

Experienced administrative staff headed

Mr. David Adams takes time out from his busy schedule to catch up on some of his correspondence.

As far as the majority of the pupils of Ben Davis were concerned, the first official act of Mr. David Adams as principal came during the first convo of the year when he began school with a cheer for the Giants. Coming to the school by way of Purdue University and Anderson High School, Mr. Adams soon became a popular and familiar face on campus. Despite his busy schedule, Mr. Adams always found time to work closely with the students in building school spirit and always kept up with the activities around school. Such things as appointing himself administration representative to student council and his close work with this, and other groups soon won him the respect and admiration of the student body.

School Board members Mr. Dewey Hoss, Mr. Parker Dunn, Mrs. Horoce Abbott, and Mr. Poul Borz discuss one of the many problems which they must confront each day.

Board directs expanding school system

Dr. Ted Hughes, Supt. Hormon Baldwin, Asst. Supt. Frank Cline, and Mr. Madison Shadley consider a plan to expand educational opportunities in Wayne Township.

Ben Davis High School, in its second year as a part of the Metropolitan School District of Wayne Township, is run by the work of a large and capable administrative staff, which this year completed one of its most important jobs when ground was broken for the new high school. The new school is scheduled for completion in 1965.

The administrative staff itself is a complex system headed by new principal, David Adams, and a five-member school board. In addition to Mr. Adams and the board there are an administrative school board; two vice principals; a registrar; two deans; plus numerous office workers without whom the school could not operate efficiently. It is the job of these people to make and enforce school policy, to schedule classes for all students, to care for the massive physical plant, and, most important, to ensure the schools position as an integral part of the community.

Graduation climaxes four happy years

Poul Brown receives his diploma from Mr. Harmon Baldwin, Superintendent of Wayne Township Schools.

The graduating class of Ben Davis High School, 487 strong, gathered for the last time altogether.

Commencement ceremonies were the evening of June 5, in the Indiana Central College Fieldhouse. The graduates at last realized that they were leaving behind their high school days.

To the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," seniors filed into their seats. Valedictorian Irene Clare, Salutatorian Brenda Williams, and Class President Steve Mains addressed the group. The invocation was given by Susan Peterson, Student Council President, and the benediction by Steve Hughes, Honor Society President.

Finally, the long-awaited moment arrived. Mr. David Adams, principal, presented the graduates as Superintendent Harmon Baldwin awarded the diplomas. As the graduates stepped from the platform, they turned their tassels from the left to the right. They were now graduates.

Baccalaureate services were May 31 in the Senior Gym. Carol Valente and Keith Tharp gave the invocation and benediction, respectively. The Reverend James McKowan was guest speaker, and the Purple-Aires sang two anthems.

The ceremony over, a group of graduates cluster at the entrance to the fieldhouse.

at Ben Davis

Nancy Sweitzer and her parents admire her diploma marking the end of a four-year career in high school.

From left to right the tassel turning marks the traditional conferring of diplomas and the passage from high school on to another phase of life.

A sea of graduates, clad in caps and gowns, covers the floor of the Indiana Central College Fieldhouse.

High school days became a memory as the class of 1964 filed by to receive their diplomas.

Seniors thought back on the days when they were "green" freshmen. Club banquets, the class party, and ordering their class rings highlighted their second year. As juniors, they sold cokes and popcorn at basketball games to finance the Junior-Senior Prom. Senior cords and senior tables were the privileges that graced their last year at Ben Davis.

Senior pictures, announcements, measurements for caps and gowns, final exams, and the Prom occupied the time and money of their last year.

Almost before they knew it, they were at graduation, wearing traditional purple robes, waiting to begin their adult lives.

Three teachers retired at year's end

Three teachers, whose combined service to Ben Davis High School numbered 66 years, retired at the end of this year. They are Mrs. Beneda Campbell, Mrs. Wilma E. Jay, and Mr. Victor Poe.

Mrs. Campbell came to Ben Davis in the fall of 1943 as a social studies teacher. The next year, she transferred to the English Department, where she has been chairman for several years.

Mrs. Jay has dedicated 25 years of her life teaching in Ben Davis. She has taught the advanced English III and IV classes for many of the years since she came here in 1938. Some of today's pupils have parents who were instructed by Mrs. Jay.

Mr. Poe has been with the BDHS Science Department for twenty years. For the last several years, he has taught botany.

These three teachers are examples of the dedicated service performed by the teachers of BDHS.

Doug Lines and Phil Reynolds made an interesting couple at the Harvest Swing costume dance.

The highly efficient file in the Keyhole office unfortunately came without a key. This year it finally suffered dissection when someone accidentally lacked the drawers.

Seniors remember humorous events

"The only trouble with these high-performance cars is starting."

A group of tearful Ben Davis graduates bid a lost farewell to their school.

Juniors look forward to first Prom

Junior class officers Tim Oliver, Sheila Hamilton, Cathy Happer, and Jim Ristaw make plans for Prom arrangements.

The third, and next to last, rung in the four-year climb through high school is the junior year. In the third year the juniors came into the magic realm of the upperclassmen and prepared for the final run to finish their high school careers.

Receiving their new class rings, taking U.S. History, going to the Prom, and planning for their future careers were some of the highlights of the year. To finance the Prom, the class's main activity, many juniors sold refreshments at the season basketball games. The class officers and sponsors Mr. Bob Britt and Mr. Bob Hughes planned the activities for the class.

After the seniors had received their diplomas, the juniors became the official leaders of the school, and, to signify their entering their last year of high school, each turned his class ring to face toward the outside world.

At the basketball games, juniors who were not cheering usually sold Cakes to earn money for the class.

Sophomores anticipate new high school

Varied activities marked the 1963-64 school year for the members of the Sophomore class. Struggling with a geometry assignment, trying to decide which class ring to order, and memorizing lines from Shakespeare's Julius Caesar were all part of the year.

The sophomores took the last group achievement tests they would take as a class in March. They spent the first three periods of the day taking these tests. In the spring, the class voted on a style of class ring. When this style was chosen, they ordered the ring they had selected. These rings will arrive next fall. The reserve basketball team represented the sophomore class during the basketball season. They played their games immediately before the varsity came on the floor. Some members of the class had the honor of becoming probationary members of the National Honor Society. The Class of 1966 elected its first officers this year. They participated in an election rally in the fall, and the class voted for the candidate of their choice.

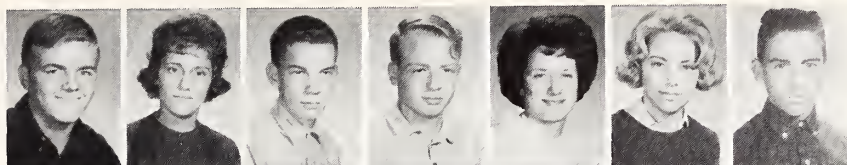

Hurrying to and from classes was a part of the year that sophomores, like all other BD pupils, will always remember.

Sophomore class officers Jan Nutty, Sherry Bristaw, Jim Wagley, and Russ Ficklin stop between classes for an on-campus meeting.

Learning to concentrate on problems in algebra is one of the difficulties that faces BD freshman.

Freshman face new experiences, friends

Meeting new faces is the keynote for all freshmen at Ben Davis High School. They make new friends and have many different experiences before their year as "greenies" is finished. The decisions that pupils make as freshmen can often influence the rest of their time spent in high school.

Class representatives and team cheerleaders are elected early in the fall, almost before many freshmen have learned the location of their classes. As the year progresses, the members of the freshman class become united into a class to face the next three years of their lives together. At the end of the year, freshmen have a class party to celebrate their having completed the plebe stage of their high school career.

Taking part in all school convocations welds freshmen to the entire student body.

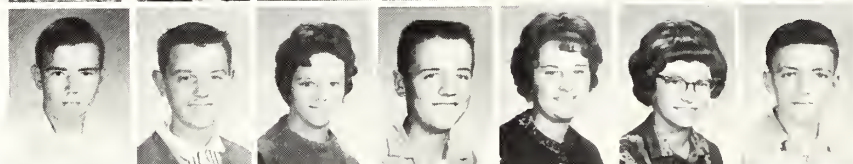

Underclassmen made up a large portion of the football team.

The 2,000 students of Ben Davis High School and their parents and friends form a large portion of the consumer market in this area.

The face of Advertising

The faces of Ben Davisites are familiar to most West Side merchants. The so-called "teen-age market" and the teen-ager's influence upon the adult customer are of ever-increasing importance to businessmen.

As a part of his community, the Ben Davis student sees the face of business in many ways—as a customer, as a salesman, and as an integral part of its workings. In any case, he is an important part of the community, a fact business faces each day.

The rovenous appetites of teen-ogers such as Bill Burke, here seen chomping o pizza, is just one facet of their effect on business through trade with local drive-ins and restaurants.

Alan Williams is fascinated by the many new fashions at EDRICH MEN'S WEAR in Speedway Shopping Center.

Sue Hunt admires Valentine corsages from BLOOM FLORIST at 3433 West Tenth Street.

Fashions and flowers

Eager customers, Karen Cantwell and Jerry Chitwood, get to Wills Feed and Supply any way they can to see the fabulous values. WILL'S FEED AND SUPPLY, 5330 West Washington Street.

For building, bowling, and root beer

Beth Sheppard and Keith Tharp admire the new addition to St. Andrew's Lutheran Church, which is being built by the SHEPPARD CONSTRUCTION COMPANY, 5632 West Washington Street.

Kay Zwerner bawls another strike, during schaal league play, at the LYNHURST BOWL, 111 N. Lynhurst Drive.

Ken Rainey, who knows tires from the inside out, says that only quality tires are handled by BURT NEES TIRE COMPANY, 6613 W. Washington Street.

Seniors Susie Langstreth and Cindy Baldwin admire one of the many unique displays at J. C. HOFFMAN FLORIST, 5439 W. Washington Street.

Flowers, tires, and fuel

"Fill 'er up?" asks Bruce Gilley. Bruce knows it's wise to use the products of DENNIS OIL COMPANY, 1806 Panama Street.

"If you're giving a party," say seniors Carol Valente and Caralyn Cervantes, "there is no better place to buy refreshments than MONTGOMERY'S SUPERMARKET, 5302 West Washington Street.

Sandy Richart puts a sign in front of another house to be sold by McCONNELL & CLARK REALTORS, 5641 West Marris Street.

Carol Bertram and her "tee," Dove Murdack say that you can get the best sporting equipment at the SPORTS SPOT, 3543 West 16th Street.

"You'll look beautiful," comments Steve Hughes as he pins on the corsage bought at KIEFFER FLORIST, 2901 W. 16th Street.

"Just what we need to carry books," comments Russ Ficklin and Danna Stewart about a purchase from CITY HARDWARE, 2811 Mars Hill Road.

Variety of goods

"Now this is a sturdy one," explains David George to Karen Hass because it came from BLACK-HERBERT LUMBER COMPANY, 1740 S. High School Road.

Key Ellis knows that his engine will be repaired good-as-new at BEN DAVIS TIRE AND BATTERY, 6243 West Washington Street.

Dave Teeter serves Bil Carter a Coke at TEETER'S DRUG STORE, 6301 West Washington Street.

Tires, Books, Drugs

Ginger Jagers, Judy Edwards, Cindi Walton, and Jeannie Compfield display some of the many items which can be purchased at the BEN DAVIS BOOK DEN in the basement of the Senior Building.

Pupils enjoy convenient local businesses

Rick Syphers shows one of the many different types of footwear available at SCHIFF'S SHOES, in Eagledale Shopping Plaza.

Fred Marin and Brenda Williams admire the medals which were presented to them for being the outstanding science students. The medals were presented by HERF-JONES, 1401 North Capital.

PARK-EAT drive-in restaurant, 6200 West Washington Street.

The places to go for a coke or a movie

WESTLAKE, "Indiana's Finest Drive-In Theater," 805 Beachway Drive.

Why are Dan Bradburn and Janet Allen so happy? Because they have just bought ice cream from MAPLEHURST DAIRIES, 3745 Farnsworth.

Mike Brown and Vickie Payne admire a new Sting Ray at BLANCK CHEVY, 710 East Main Street, Brownsburg.

Clyde Peach, sophomore sprinter, stands on one of the trucks of another rapid mover, LANG TRUCKING COMPANY, 6910 Crawfordsville Road.

"Everything from A to Z (Aspirin to Zebras)," says Stan Henderson, "at HENDERSON DRUGS, 4406 West Washington Street."

Many Services Available In B.D. Area

Jim Bengtson knows that excellent service is available for all types of automobiles, including this 1936 Plymouth, at WAYNE PARK GARAGE, 4808 West Washington Street.

Mike E. Davis—Ben Davis Senior has assisted on the Moore & Kirk ambulance during his four years in high school. With him are M. R. Benner and Gary Fishera.

MOORE & KIRK BEN DAVIS CHAPEL, 7050 W. Washington Street.

The Keyhole staff often works long, difficult hours after school striving to meet the deadlines.

Hard work, long hours finally over

In order to produce a top-quality yearbook, the 1964 Keyhole staff looked to the priceless help of the following people and organizations. Deepest thanks go to:

Mr. David Adams, principal
 Mr. Max Galloway, commercial photographer
 Mr. Dick Kennard, publisher's representative
 Mrs. Beneda Campbell, English department chairman
 Newsfoto Publishing Company, San Angelo, Texas.
